

Please replace Abstract with following Abstract.

Abstract

A message processing apparatus and a message processing method are disclosed. The apparatus and the method performs managing process requestor search information, accepting agent activating event, determining the process requestor, setting a plurality of agents, determining process priority, determining compound process priority, and instructing an agent in cache memory.